Work Health & Safety

Work Health & Safety (WH&S) is an extremely important issue that needs to be taken into account by all exhibitors and their display contractors. NB: Most rules are set by the State Government. Expertise Events and the venue are merely overseeing the compliancy of them.

All exhibition sites during the move in and move out period have a large number of contractors on the site and we have a duty of care to ensure that correct practices are being used and WH&S policies adhered to.

WH&S information needs to be read by and clearly understood by all employees, contractors and subcontractors under your employment during this exhibition. Failure to comply with these directives will mean a prevention of work on the stand until such forms are produced and guidelines adhered to.

The event has 3 distinct phases. During the move in and move out phase, the event will be classed as a construction site and all regulations in accordance must be followed. During the hours of public access, the show is classed as a workplace.

Exhibitors and Stand Contractors will need to be familiar with the below "Safety Guidelines" in addition to the General Rules & Regulations as stated in this document. All Exhibitors & Stand Contractors are responsible for identifying hazards and managing the risk associated with their own staff and subcontractors.

Safety

Please ensure that all incidents are reported immediately to Expertise Events or the venue via the Helpdesk.

In the interests of both yourself and visitors safety, the following guidelines should be adhered to during the move in, open days and move out periods of the exhibition.

- All exhibitors, subcontractors and other persons working within the confines of the exhibition including the loading dock, must abide by the provisions of the Workplace Health and Safety Act, its regulations and all relevant compliance and Advisory Standards. Persons responsible for each stand must ensure that any persons contracted by the exhibitor also comply with this Act.
- All exhibitors and exhibit assembly or construction must comply with all Local, State and Federal Statutory regulations, including the Building Code of Australia and all current Australian standards.
- Under no circumstances should any exhibitor, contractor or other person block or impede any of the following: aisle ways, roadways, doors, stairs and emergency exits, fire hose reels or fire extinguisher access, fire detection system or sanitary accommodation.
- Persons operating equipment during an exhibition must be the current holder of the relevant certificate or license as required by law to operate such equipment.
- Machinery, equipment or substances likely to jeopardise the health or safety of any person are prohibited. All machinery should be fitted with guarding, fencing, locks, immobilisation etc. Note: Signs alone are not acceptable as a protective method.
- All materials, fittings and furnishings used in exhibitions must be approved by the relevant regulatory authority (where applicable) for use in a public building (Building Code of Australia classification 9B).
- The use of naked flame, pyrotechnics or flammable gas is prohibited unless approved in writing by the venue.
- Any accident, injury or dangerous occurrence must be reported to the Helpdesk or Security as soon as possible.

Security

Uniformed security guards will be on duty during bump in, exhibition days and bump out. Whilst every precaution is taken, Expertise Events nor the venue cannot accept responsibility for any loss or damage that may occur to persons or property at the exhibition, from any cause whatsoever. Exhibitors should ensure adequate insurance coverage against the loss, theft or damage of all products brought to the exhibition; this includes during transportation to and from the event.

It is unfortunate that while Expertise Events takes precautions, such as having security personnel, thefts still occur. As an exhibitor there are precautions you can take to reduce the risk of theft from your stand whether it be stock/display materials, cash takings or personal belongings.

- Try to avoid bringing valuable personal items with you while working at the exhibition (including cash), if possible carry any personal items on yourself at all times.
- When designing or laying out your stand take into consideration security issues: Is there somewhere for staff to secure their personal belongings? If you will be making cash sales at public exhibitions have you incorporated a cash tin / register and is this in a location where it is not easily accessed?
- If you have a cash tin/register on your stand do not leave it unlocked / open.
- Easily portable items of value which form part of your display should be secured to your stand so that they are not easily removed.
- When organising staff for your stand ensure that there will always be someone present at your stand during exhibition hours, remember to allow for meal and toilet breaks.
- If you notice someone or something suspicious contact either the Helpdesk or Security immediately, this will allow security to act before a theft occurs or someone else becomes a victim.
- Consider using a money pouch carried on the hip if you are making cash sales, by having your cash close to your body it makes it difficult for a thief to access. When purchasing, take into account comfort and the design, some pouches are more businesslike than others.

Be conscious of individuals asking unusual questions. Do not let them distract you and position yourself in a way so that your back is never turned to where your cash is being stored.
